TO EXPUNGE AND CENSURE On the claim that he wanted to extend his remarks on "the selective draft," Caleb Powers secured consent of Congress to print them in the Congressional Record. Instead of doing so, however, he devoted his socalled speech to "skinning" his opponent, Judge Robsion, of Barbourville. One of the paragraphs is to the effect that the judge had criticised his clothes by saying that when he canvassed the district he wore patched pants and actually had patches put on where there were no holes. Powers denies the charge and says that while he can not dress as fine as the judge, who is a rich banker, he tries to dress respectably as a plain citizen. He is particularly exact in saying he never had patches where there were no holes, claiming that all he could do was to have patches where there were holes. There was much more of such drivel. Critics of the speech are disguested with such rot and say it should not be given free printing and circulation at the expense of the taxpayers. A resolution will be presented to expunge it from the Record and have Powers rebuked for taking advantage of a privilege. This is the second speech Powers has made in answer to Judge Robsion and franked it over the 11th district. It shows the manner of man he is to those who do not know his real character and the incident should lead to an abrogation of the privilege of having speeches printed at the expense of the government that are never delivered, or at least the adoption of a resolution that no speech shall be printed that deviates from the subject for which the privare evidences that the Japanese have crowded with alleged speeches in Chesney or Harry Summers will be

It seems that the drys of the Legislature do not want bone dry prohibition. Those in the House voted to let a man have all he wanted for his personal use, but the Senate, by a decisive vote, declined to concur. If we are to have prohibition, let us have the bone dryest kind and take the question out of politics forever. It seems, however, that the political prohibitionists want to keep up the agitation indefinitely. It is their only stock in trade, without which their occupation would be gone.

Step Lively! Corns Quit with "Gets-It"

The Great Corn-Loosener of the Age. Never Fails. Painless.

Watch my step? What's the use! I go along "right side up without care," even with corns, because I use "Gets-It", the painless, off-like-a-banana-peel corn remover. I tried other ways galore, until I was blue in the face and red in the toes. No more for me. Use "Gets-It." It never fails. Touch any corn or callus with two drops of "Gets-It," and "Gets-It" does the rest. It's a relief to be able to stop cutting corns, making them bleed, wrapping them up like packages and using sticky tape and salves. It removes any corn clear and clean, leaving the toe as smooth as your palm. You can wear those new shoes without pain, dance and be frisky on your feet. It's great to use "Gets-It."

"Gets-It" is sold at all druggists (you need pay no more than 25 cents a bottle), or sent on receipt of price by E. Lawrence & Co., Chicago, Ill. Sold in Stanford and recommend. in the face and red in the toes. more for me. Use "Gets-It."

Mrs. Frank Crocker, Pana, Ill. writes: "Our five-year-old son, Paul caught a severe cold last winter that settled on his lungs and he had terrible coughing spells.
